The bill requires uncontested races in an election to appear at the end of the ballot, after contested races, in the same order as prescribed for contested races. Generally speaking, this requirement has no direct impact on county boards of elections. The placement of races on the ballot in the manner prescribed in the bill would require arranging the races on the ballot in advance of any necessary ballot printing, which would be done in the general preparation of the ballot. This would not impose any additional costs to county boards of elections.
