Highlights

- Assuming demand for the “Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate satisfies the minimum 150-person registration requirement, then, in its first year, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV) will: (1) gain at least $1,500 in fee revenues and (2) incur between $882 and $1,085 or more in license plate production costs; the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue will receive at least $2,250 in contributions.
- In subsequent years, the BMV will gain $10 in fee revenue for each license plate newly issued or renewed, and incur production costs of $5.88 and $7.23 for a new single plate and pair of plates issued, respectively.
- The actual BMV fee revenue and cost, as well as contributions to the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue, will depend upon demand in each year.
- A person who applies for the “Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate must pay additional money, consisting of a $10 BMV administrative fee and a contribution of $15.
- The bill will have no direct fiscal effect on the state’s political subdivisions.

Detailed Analysis

“Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate

The bill creates the “Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate available to all persons with an eligible vehicle registered in Ohio. In addition to paying taxes and fees applicable under current law, a person applying for the plate is required to pay a $10 Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV) administrative fee and a $15 contribution to the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue.

License plate implementation procedures

Under existing law, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles is not required to implement any legislation that creates a specialty license plate until the Registrar receives written statements from at least 150 persons indicating that they intend to apply for and obtain the license plate (R.C. 4503.78).

Production costs and administrative fees

Under current law, a person may elect to purchase either a single plate or pair of plates. The BMV currently produces special license plates via a digital print-on-demand process. The cost to produce a single plate is $5.88. The production cost for a pair is $7.23.

Under the bill, a person obtaining the “Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate is required to pay an administrative fee of $10, the purpose of which is to compensate the BMV for additional services required in issuing the plate. The administrative fee is credited to the Public Safety – Highway Purposes Fund (Fund 5TM0), which is used in part to pay the BMV’s expenses related to titling motor vehicles, licensing drivers, and registering motor vehicles.

- Assuming the license plate satisfies the minimum 150-person registration requirement, then, in the first year, the annual production costs for the plate will total at a minimum between $882 (150 persons x $5.88) and $1,085 (150 persons x $7.23), and the administrative fees collected will total at least $1,500 (150 persons x $10).
- In subsequent years, the BMV will collect $10 for each new and renewed license plate. For each new plate issued, the production cost will be $5.88 and $7.23 for a single plate and a pair of plates, respectively.

Ohio House Rabbit Rescue

The $15 contribution paid for the issuance of the “Ohio House Rabbit Rescue” specialty license plate will be credited to the existing License Plate Contribution Fund (Fund 5V10), and then paid to the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue for its rescue, adoption, and educational programs.

- Assuming the license plate satisfies the minimum 150-person registration requirement, then, in the first year, the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue will receive at least $2,250 (150 persons x $15).
- In subsequent years, the Ohio House Rabbit Rescue will collect $15 for each new or renewed license plate.
