Highlights

- The bill is unlikely to increase the Department of Insurance's administrative costs, but if there were any increase in such costs, it would be paid from the Department of Insurance Operating Fund (Fund 5540).

Detailed Analysis

The bill requires a domestic fraternal benefit society to present to the Superintendent of Insurance a plan to protect the interests of the society members not later than 45 days following either of these events: the society (1) has an authorized control level risk-based capital (RBC)¹ or (2) fails to comply with the surplus requirement under existing law. The bill specifies that the plan must provide for the transfer of all members, certificates, and other assets and liabilities of the society to another society or other insurer through merger, consolidation, assumption, or any other means, and it requires the plan to designate a period of time to complete the transfer. The bill specifies that any such transfer is subject to approval by the Superintendent. The bill also stipulates several other requirements related to the transfer, which have no fiscal effect.

The bill also modifies provisions related to imposing any assessment of shares of a deficiency. The bill extends the number of days that the society is required to notify the Superintendent of its plan to impose such an assessment from 30 days to 90 days prior to the assessment, and following the notice period, provides that the assessment may be imposed only if the assessment has not been disapproved by the Superintendent.

If a petition for liquidation of a fraternal benefit society is filed, the bill prohibits the court or the domestic fraternal benefit society from assessing payment of shares of a deficiency against a certificate, unless the court or the Superintendent determines that the assessment is for the purpose of satisfying Class 1 and Class 2 claims as described in section 3903.42 of the Revised Code.² The bill also specifies liquidation proceedings for such societies.

Fiscal effect

A domestic fraternal benefit society is a nonprofit organization governed by Chapter 3921 of the Revised Code, that provides benefits to its members that are generally comparable to those provided by a life insurer, and subject to examination by the Department of Insurance. On May 16, 2022, the Department of Insurance website reported that there were 50 fraternal benefit societies authorized to do business in Ohio, including nine societies that were domiciled in the state.³

The bill affects such societies and the Department of Insurance only if a society becomes financially weak or needs to be liquidated. Liquidation is a process comparable to bankruptcy, and is overseen by the Superintendent of Insurance. The bill is not likely to increase the Department's administrative costs, and may streamline the process if the bill's provisions were triggered for a society. If there were any increase in departmental costs, it would be paid from the Department of Insurance Operating Fund (Fund 5540). Fund 5540 receives funding from various fees, including fees associated with such societies.⁴

Provisions related to the liquidation of a society would have no fiscal effect. Under current law, when an Ohio domestic insurance company becomes insolvent and requires liquidation the Superintendent of Insurance would initiate a court action to place the company in liquidation. The Office of the Ohio Insurance Liquidator is funded by a share of the estate left by a liquidated insurance company. In the same way, the cost of liquidating an insolvent society would likely be recovered from the society's assets.

The bill has no direct fiscal impact on local governments.

² Generally, section 3903.42 of the Revised Code specifies that Class 1 claims are those arising from administration of the liquidation and Class 2 claims are for loss under policies covered by the society. The bill specifies that an assessment must not be imposed for the purpose of satisfying any other obligation of the society, including Class 3 to Class 10 claims as described in section 3903.42.

⁴ In addition, currently payments associated with any examination of domestic fraternal benefit societies are transferred from Fund 5540 to the Superintendent's Examination Fund (Fund 5550) under an uncodified provision of H.B. 110.
