Between 1889 and 1907, Young served in the 9th Cavalry, primarily at western posts and rose to the rank of captain. During his military career, he also served as the first African-American national park superintendent at Sequoia National Park. In 1894, Young was assigned to teach military sciences and tactics at Wilberforce University.

Subsequently, Young served as a military attaché in Liberia, where he passed away on January 8, 1922.

On June 1, 1923, Young was memorialized at Arlington National Cemetery's Memorial Amphitheater and buried at the cemetery. He was posthumously promoted to brigadier general.
